The Ruhr-Universität Bochum is one of the leading universities in Germany and is a reform-oriented campus university that uniquely covers the entire spectrum of the major scientific fields at one single location. The dynamic confluence of subjects and subject cultures offers researchers and students alike special opportunities for interdisciplinary cooperation.

The Klinikum der Ruhr-Universität Bochum (Ruhr-Universität Bochum Hospital) (UKRUB) comprises qualified hospitals and specialist medical facilities in the Bochum, Herne and Ostwestfalen-Lippe areas, which cooperate with the Ruhr-Universität. The UK RUB stands for medical care at its highest level and excellent research in and teaching of medicine at its university.

At the LWL-Universitätsklinikum Bochum, Clinic for Psychiatry, Psychotherapy and Preventive Medicine of the Ruhr-Universität Bochum a

is on offer, even as a part-time position.

The position is initially limited to a period of 5 years and will then be taken over by the hospital subsequent to a positive evaluation.

The Clinic for Psychiatry, Psychotherapy and Preventive Medicine of the LWL-Universitätsklinikum (Medical Director: Prof. Dr. Georg Juckel) has a scientific focus in the fields of social psychiatric care and prevention research. The basic scientific and clinical research focus lies in neurobiological research using methods of structural and functional imaging, neurophysiology, CNS stimulation procedures, animal experimental processes and genetics. Special emphasis is placed on research into the early progression of psychiatric diseases, including early detection. With regard to peripartal and developmental psychiatry, there is close cooperation with the LWL-Klinik Herten (Medical Director: Dr. Luc Turmes) and the mother-child ward there.

The professorship being offered is part of the senior medical management of this field at the Bochum Clinic. Ideally, applicants should be a specialist (male or female) in psychiatry and psychotherapy. They should also have an excellent scientific profile in developmental psychiatry, peripartal psychiatry, family medicine, early detection and prevention. You will be expected to be willing to integrate into the main research fields of the faculty (neurosciences, protein sciences, oncology, infectiology, immunology) and to cooperate with the clinical competence centres in the area of neuropsychiatric subjects. The professorship is in the field of psychiatry and psychotherapy with special emphasis on developmental psychiatry. It is expected that the person will participate in the entire teaching of the Integrated Reform Course in Medicine in the framework of the modular teaching concept. Clinical competencies along with senior medical management experience covering the entire field of psychiatry and psychotherapy as well as a related commitment to the further creation of a distinctive image for the clinic are expected.

A positively evaluated junior professorship, postdoctoral lecture qualification or equivalent academic achievements as well as a pedagogical aptitude are prerequisites for the position, as is the willingness to participate in academic self-management.
Further requirements:
- Leadership experience and management skills
- Willingness to participate in interdisciplinary scientific work
- University-level didactic skills and a high level of commitment to teaching
- Willingness and ability to acquire third-party funded research projects

The Landschaftsverband Westfalen-Lippe (LWL) and the Ruhr-Universität Bochum are particularly interested in promoting the careers of women in the fields in which they are underrepresented and will therefore be very pleased to receive applications from female applicants. Applications from suitable severely disabled and equivalent female and male applicants are also very welcome.

The Dean of the Medical Faculty of the RUB, Prof. Ralf Gold, available at tel. no. 0234 32-24961 and the Medical Director of the LWL University Hospital, Prof. Georg Juckel, at 0234 5077-1100, will be pleased to answer any further questions you may have.

Your written application along with your curriculum vitae, photograph, transcripts of certificates, a list of scientific publications, third-party funding as well as reprints of ten representative publications, proof of teaching activities and our filled-up application form (http://www.ruhr-uni-bochum.de/medizin/dekanat/sachgebiete_service/berufung.html) are requested within six weeks of the publication of this advertisement, addressed to:
